ARRIVAL OF THE BARK "YANKEE."

One Month Later from the East.

The favorite bark Yankee, Capt. Lovett, arrived on Tuesday the 15th, at 3 P. M. (the very day set for her arrival,) bringing two semi-monthly mails and four weeks later dates from the United States and Europe. She made the passage down in 13 days. Our dates are New York October 5, London Sept. 18 and San Francisco Nov. 2. She brings 17 mail bags and a very large amount of mail matter.

Among her passengers, we note the return of Capt. Snow and his family. Also, the arrival of Mr. M'Ruer of the firm of M'Ruer & Merrill, and that of a company of Minstrels known as "Mitchell's Min-

THE NEWS.—The news by the mails is highly in teresting. There is a fair prospect of the satisfactory adjustment of the Italian question, although the reports in regard to the same require authentication as yet. It is stated that the King of Belgium's proas yet. It is stated that the King of Belgium's proposition meets the acceptance and concurrence of the Emperors of France and Austria, and that the vexed question of disposing of the duchies is at last likely to be brought to a settlement. Under the proposed arrangement, Tuscany is to be reigned over by the King of Belgium's second son, Venetia goes to the Arch-Duke Maximilian, while Parma and Modena
fall to the Count of Flanders. The same plan also embodies a proposition to give the fortresses of Peschiera and Mantua to Sardinia, and to restore the legations to the Pope. How these propositions could receive the concurrence of the two Emperors, after what has formerly occurred, is more than can be fathomed at the present writing. Certainly the terms of the peace of Villafranca did not call for such a disposition of affairs, and we are left only to conclude that both Napoleon and the Austrian Emperor were but too willing to make any liberal concession that would prevent another recourse to hostilities. What reliance is to be placed upon these reports we are unable to say, but in the present mixed condition of European affairs, it will be well to take them cum grano salis.

In the meantime, the greatest activity prevails in the French dockyards, and the English press continues to be seriously exercised in regard to the matter. The French navy is being strengthened by the construction of numerous steel-plated ships of the line, armed with the new rifled cannon, while Cherbourg and other ports are being still more strongly fortified than ever before. It is no matter of surprise that all this excites distrust and alarm in England despite the protestations of the Count de Morny.

But the most interesting piece of intelligence received by this arrival, is that which informs us beyond all doubt of the real fate of Sir John Franklin, his officers and crew, which will be found below.— THE GREAT EASTERN .- The steamship Great Eastern on her trial trip, met with an accident from the explosion of a feed-pipe in the forward cabin, occa-sioning damage estimated at about £5000, which however, would not delay her departure for Portland. It appears that on the afternoon of the 9th, when off Hastings, a feed-pipe casing in the forward funnel, which had been introduced on the ground of economy in heat, and to keep the heat of the funnels from the cabins, exploded with terrific force, blowing the funnel into the air, and tearing to pieces the grand saloon and the lower deck cabirs, through which the funnels passed, and otherwise doing great damage to funnels passed, and otherwise doing great damage to the internal fittings. Great consternation prevailed on board, and prompt efforts were made to get at the unfortunate men in the engineering department, who were either burned in the rubbish or prostrated by the steam. Three firemen were found in a dying state and soon expired, while eight others were more or less injured, two of whom subsequently died. One fireman was lost overboard, having either fallen into the water or jumped into it to escape scaiding. The injured men were generally progressing favorably, although two or three of them were in a very precarious condition.

The numerous guests on board had only quitted the grand saloon through which the funnel passed, and in which they had been dining a few moments before the explosion took place. But for this the consequence would have been most serious.

The explosion is stated to have probably been one of the most terrific which a vessel has ever survived. and which none in the world could have withstood save a structure of such marvellous strength as the Great Eastern. She not only resisted it, her frame sustaining no injury whatever, but it made so little difference to the movement of the vessel that the engines were never once stopped till she reached Port-

It is stated that great objections had been made to the casing around funnels, but the directors persisted in adopting the plan, notwithstanding that it was tried and abandoned in the Collins and other steam-

A coroner's inquest commenced at Weymouth on the 12th. The evidence clearly showed the cause of the explosion to be—lstly, The supply of the boilers through the water jacket of the funnel was stopped because of failure in the auxiliary pumping power; 2ndly, A stand pipe, which acts as a safety-valve, had in it a tap where the casing was hydraulicly tested, and that tap was turned, apparently intentionally, so that the pipe was useless. The inquest adjourned till the 17th.

Prior to the accident, the performance of the vessel was most satisfactory, and she was almost with-out motion, while large vessels in her vicinity were out motion, while large vessels in her vicinity were pitching and tossing in a stormy sea. A survey of the vessel had been held, and estimates sent in to forthwith repair the damage at a cost of not more than £5000, the injury being far less considerable than was at first supposed. Little, if any, delay would take place in the departure of the ship on her first voyage, but a rumor prevailed that she would not proceed to Holyhead, but sail direct from Portland. The accident caused a slight decline in the land. The accident caused a slight decline in the shares of the company, but did not influence the general confidence in the ship.

THE WAR IN CHINA.—The China mail had reached

England, bringing accounts of the warlike rupture between China, England, and France. France. The Paris Moniteur, in an, article detailing the treachery of the Chinese, says :

The governments of France and England are about to take measures together to inflict chastisement and obtain every satisfaction which so flagrant an act of treachery requires.

ZURICH CONFERENCE.—Little is said of the conference at Zurich, and it appears to have lost all interest. The conference had been suspended until Count Colloredo received fresh instructions from Vienna.

The article in the Paris Moniteur, in regard to the peace of Villa Franca, (* summary of which was transmitted per Arabia) produced a very unfavorable effect at Paris, and future complications, again menacing the state of Europe, were anticipated. The article came direct from the Emperor at St. Saveur.

The London Post's Paris correspondent says—the fortifications of the different French towns is the order of the day. Lisle and Bourges are under the hands of engineers, and Valenciennes soon also

It was rumored that the governments of France and England had both agreed that a Congress on the Italian question had become necessary.

The Emperor and Empress had gone to Biarrts, whither the King of the Beigians was expected to arrive, the object of his journey, it was supposed, having reference to the difficulty subsisting between France and Austria. The policy of Louis Napoleon in the Italian affair begins to be unravelled. On Friday, the 10th, an article appeared in the Moniteur, in which the writer states, doubtless under authority, that at the armistice of Villafranca, the Emperor of Austria agreed to Italy. states, doubtless under authority, that at the armistice of Villafranca, the Emperor of Austria agreed to grant concessions on a large scale to Venetia, on condition, as a sine qua non, that the archdukes should be assisted in recovering their thrones. The Emperor of France accepted the conditions. But the complications in Italy, consequent upon the wide differences between the parties to the treaty, prevents the fullfilment of the condition, which also exonorates Austria from her engagement. Napoleon is determined that no force shall be employed by any power to secure the return of the Archdukes, whilst Austria threatens to employ force. She is not, however, in a condition to take a step that would once more bring upon her a war with France and Sardinia, with the certain addition of an army from the Duchies of 40,000 men with Garibaldi as Commander-in-Chief. Francis Joseph of Austria, therefore dare not go beyond the length of his tether, and may there gnaw his chain and whine as much as he pleases. A Congress of the European powers is seriously talked of, but Austria, who knows she will gain nothing by it, in dead against it. The Zurich Conference is likely to be a complete than the state of the Press of the Press of the Austrian and Sardinian planipotents.

government of all princes of that house. Al vote of thanks to Napoleon was agreed upon. On the following day annexation to Sardinia was voted. The announcement was received with enthusiastic cheers and loud vivas for Victor Emanuel. Five deputies were chosen to convey the wishes of the population to the King of Sardinia.

THE FATE OF SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.-The Arctic steamer Fox had returned with interesting records and relics of the Franklin Expedition, from which it appears that Franklin died in '47 and the ship was abandoned in '48. The Arctic Expedition found at Point William a record dated April 28th, 1848, signed by Captains Crenier and Fitzjames, saying the Exchus and Terror were abandoned three days previously in ice. and that 105 survivors were proceedviously in ice, and that 105 survivors were proceed-ing to Great Fish River. Sir John Franklin had died June 11th, of the previous year, (the year 1847,) and that the total deaths to date were 9 officers and 15 men. Many interesting relics were found on the western shore of King Williams Island; others were obtained from Esquimaux, who stated that after the abandonment of the ships one was crushed by ice and the other forced ashore. Several skeletons of Frank lin's men, quantities of elothing, and a duplicate re-cord up to the al andonment of the ship were discov-
